PUBLIC PARTICIPATION: J Smith gave a presentation on the likely cost of developing a new cemetery, from inception to opening. He noted that there is a 3:1 split between cremations and burials. When considering the cost of a burial, allowance needs to be made for the ongoing maintenance of the plot. Mr Smith noted that the purchase price, cost of surveys and planning permission equates, on average, to about £100,000 per acre at agricultural land rates. Development land rates could triple the cost. The Chairman thanked Mr Smith who then left the meeting.

43/17EL A NEW BURIAL SITE/GARDEN OF REMEMBRANCE FOR THE PARISH.

The Chairman invited B Symes to address the Committee.

B Symes noted that consideration is being given to re-using the graveyard plots at St Stephens. Moreover, under the Open Spaces Act 1906 the Parish Council may maintain a local church burial ground once "...they are authorised so to do by the licence or faculty of the bishop." The Committee asked B Symes to provide further clarification as to whether the new burial ground would be considered municipal (i.e. not purely for Church of England deceased); what would be involved in obtaining the faculty from the Lichfield Diocese to re-use the current burial plots; how long would it take to arrange all the necessary faculties/licences so that the Parish Council may commence managing the "new" burial ground.

The Chairman thanked B Symes who then left the meeting.
